Message from the President, USIWZ

Dear Friends,

It gives me immense pride to address you in this newsletter supplement at such an important juncture —after a busy and productive year, and as we look ahead to milestone decisions before we gather for the 35th WZUSICON. I have always believed that the role of President is not merely ceremonial, but one of responsibility, involvement, and collective vision as we march forward together into the future.

Over the past year, I have been privileged to work closely with our dedicated Council, where every initiative has been shaped through thoughtful discussion and consensus during our regular meetings and daily interactions. From guiding the membership drive to shaping the scientific agenda, from supporting the launch of the Publication and Academic Committee to encouraging midterm meetings, webinars, overseas tours, digital up-gradation, our YouTube channel, online submission processes, and coaxing our postgraduate colleagues into active participation—every effort has been aimed at fostering both academic excellence and camaraderie among members.

I have always believed that the President’s role is not ornamental but one of steering the Council and Society to the next level. I feel fortunate to lead a Council that believes in this philosophy and has enthusiastically participated in setting directions that will define the future of our Society.

As we approach the 35th Annual Conference, I am delighted to see a robust and inclusive scientific program taking shape. With international experts joining us (many at their own expense), interactive sessions, and ample opportunities for our younger colleagues, we are ensuring that the stage remains open for new voices, while the Council provides a strong backbone of support without occupying the space meant for members. Such initiatives, I believe, strengthen our Society’s identity as both progressive and firmly rooted in academic values.

I thank each member for your faith, your participation, and your constant encouragement. I urge you to go through this supplement in detail and attend the AGM, where your presence and voice will help shape the future of our Society. I remain open and approachable on messages and calls, as always, and look forward to your continued suggestions and involvement as we step into this landmark 35th Annual Meeting.

Long live WZUSI.

Warm regards,
Dr. Ashish Rawandale
President, USI West Zone
